Visiting our website

When you visit our websites, we capture your data which is necessary for us to make the website accessible to you (e.g. IP address, date and duration of your visit). Further storage in log files is performed to ensure the functionality of our websites and the security of our systems. We therefore have a legitimate interest in processing your data. We delete your data as soon as it is no longer needed to fulfill the purpose for which it was collected.

Shipment screening

Shipments are screened to verify their content, to match the detailed description, to check their value and to comply with the applicable law and our Terms of Carriage. We screen all shipments for security purposes to avoid that prohibited and unacceptable items enter our network or to detect criminal offences or misuse. We have a legitimate interest for this processing as it ensures the smooth operation and continuous improvement of our products for your benefit.

Shipment exceptions

At DHL we strive to deliver your shipment with the utmost care and without undue delay. If we cannot deliver your shipment, it will be returned to the shipper. When no address can be found, it will be handled in the DHL Found Shipment Center where we may be obliged to open your shipment to identify a return or delivery address. Therefore, we have a legitimate interest to process your data.

Denied Party Screening

Denied Parties are individuals or entities who are involved in illegal activities such as drug trafficking, money laundering, counterfeiting, fraud or terrorism. For these reasons they are denied shipping privileges by government agencies. Any transaction with someone on a Denied Party list is prohibited.

Every shipment sent via the DHL Express network is screened for any possible link to a Denied Party. In the event a potential link is detected, the shipment will be held back for further screening. To do this and to facilitate the quick release of your shipment, we will request a proof of your identification. Once your identity is verified, the provided document will be deleted.

Based on DHL Express' and your legitimate interest, we will process your data and we may keep strictly necessary data for a limited period. This prevents your future shipments from being delayed due to the screening process. Nonetheless, you have the right to object, verbally or in writing.

If you have any questions on the regulations, trade sanctions and Denied Parties, please visit the websites of the relevant authorities, e.g. United Nations, European Union and US Government.

Calls and call recordings

In certain cases, DHL will call you to clarify contractual topics, to gather your feedback or for marketing purposes. The legal basis is either performance of a contract, legitimate interest or consent. For example, in some countries, calls for marketing purposes are only made with your prior consent.

If you call us or we call you, the call can be recorded for shipment related matters, training and quality assurance. We will process your call recording according to the applicable data protection and telecommunication laws. Where the call recording is subject to consent, the call will only be recorded after you give your consent. You can withdraw your consent at any time. From that moment on, all communication will no longer be recorded. In countries where the call recording is subject to legitimate interest, you may object to the recording.

Customs clearance

We want to ensure that your shipment arrives as quickly as possible by facilitating the customs clearance process for you. To do this, it is necessary that you provide us with all the required documents for customs clearance. As customs varies on country level, different legal requirements can apply. For example, in certain countries, customs authorities require the social security number, the national ID or a passport copy to clear the shipment. To comply with the customs regulation and to fulfill our contractual obligations, the processing of your data is necessary. In cases where we keep your data for future shipments, we will ask your consent which you can withdraw at any time.

Digital messaging

To facilitate the communication between us, we offer you to contact us via third party communication channels of your choice (e.g. Facebook, WhatsApp and DHL Virtual Assistant). The systems respond with keyword-based answers or passes your request to a staff member in a live chat. This will be a quick and easy way to have answers on your shipment status or on our products and services. Therefore, we have a legitimate interest in processing your data for the facilitation of our communication. If you do not wish to make use of such a channel, you are welcome to contact our customer service. For further information on data protection practices of the channel providers, please visit their websites.

Cookies and other technologies

DHL makes use of various technologies to store your user preferences or other information to make our services to you as convenient and efficient as possible. When you access our website, a Privacy Preference Center will inform you that by using our website your consent is required to the use of certain cookies, such as analytical cookies.

Geolocation

DHL will only collect your location directly from you. We offer you an improved user experience on our systems by integrating mapping systems (e.g. Google Maps, Microsoft Bing Maps...). This can be part of shipment tracking, location search and delivery to DHL Service Points in case you have chosen to redirect your shipment. Depending on the country, this processing can be based on legitimate interest or your consent.

Video Surveillance ‘CCTV’

DHL has installed video surveillance cameras to control the access to the building and specific areas such as parking lot, as well as to perform oversight on business operations within the DHL warehouse. Video surveillance is used to guarantee the safety and health of its visitors, personnel, and property, as well as any monitoring of the operational processes in its facilities. Therefore, we have a legitimate interest for security and access control purposes, which is necessary for the management of DHL buildings.

Social media fan pages

We make our social media fan pages, such as Facebook, Instagram or LinkedIn accessible to you to better manage our relationship. Therefore, we have a legitimate interest in processing your data. For more information, please visit our Privacy Notices on our social media fan pages.

DHL Service Points

It is possible for you to send and receive packages via Service Points. These Service Points can be owned by DHL or by a third party business partner (e.g. your local newspaper shop). If you choose to operate via a Service Point, DHL will process only the minimum and strictly necessary data to perform our contractual obligations towards you. This could be the delivery of your package to your preferred Service Point or sending your packages to your intended recipient.

Payment partners

DHL offers you several payment options to facilitate your payment experience. We accept all major debit and credit cards, as well as online payment systems. Your payment data will be processed in accordance with payment industry processing standards to provide the service you request and to fulfill our contractual obligations.

How we collect your data?

We primarily collect and use your data to pick-up, transport and deliver your shipment.

We may collect your data directly or indirectly. When you actively share information with us by e.g. creating an account, contacting us or filling in a form on our website or a survey, we receive your data directly from you. When we receive your data from an external third party (e.g. shipper), we receive your data indirectly. In this case, it is the responsibility of the supplier of the data to ensure the accuracy of the data and to transfer it to us in accordance with applicable law.

Information for our business partners

We process data for you as our business partner, in order for us to manage our contracts with you or to receive services from you.

We only collect and process the data necessary for our agreed contractual purposes and will only share data in accordance with applicable data protection laws and limited to the agreed purposes.

We use your services to better serve our employees and our customers. This allows DHL to guarantee a close proximity to our customers for their pick-up and delivery, shipment data management services, partners for safety and security, audits, payment providers and IT hosting.

How long we keep your data?

We will keep your data for as long as necessary to fulfill our purposes, to execute our contracts and to comply with any legal obligation. The retention period may differ per country based on applicable country laws.

To comply with applicable legal obligations, we will keep some of your data for a period up to 11 years, with variations per country as determined by applicable local laws. For example, the storage of shipment documents required for shipment processing. We determine an appropriate and reasonable retention period by considering the nature, the sensitivity and the necessity of your data.

We continuously strive to minimize the retention period of data where the purpose, the law or contracts allows us to do so. For example, in some countries data for the purpose of customer satisfaction is kept for no longer than 3 years. The data that we collect based on your consent will be kept until you withdraw your consent.

How we secure your data?

DHL takes the security of your data very seriously. We have implemented various strategies, controls, policies and measures to keep your data secure. We keep our security measures under close review. We use safeguards such as firewalls, network intrusion systems, application monitoring and password protection. Where appropriate, we secure your data by using pseudonymization and encryption techniques when storing and transferring your data. We ensure that there are strict physical access controls in our buildings and certified data centers. This means that your data is secured and only accessible on a need-to-know basis.

As a part of our security strategy, we have set up auditing programs to make sure that our systems and services comply with the DPDHL information security policy, and by extension the ISO 27000 series of Security Standard.

In addition, we are taking a number of ongoing measures to reduce risk, such as (but not limited to) training our employees regularly and organizing incident simulation exercises by our Cyber Defense Center.

The goal is to have a continuous IT system operation and to prevent unauthorized access.

Will your data be passed on?

DHL will only share or transfer your data in the course of carrying out the purposes outlined in this Privacy Notice, when permitted by applicable law and with appropriate safeguards.

We will transfer your data to the following category of recipients:

- DPDHL Group companies: transfer is required within the DPDHL Group, its legal entities and shared service centers to provide our products and services
- Business partners: transfer is necessary for performance of the contract (e.g. to deliver your package to a Service Point)
- Public authorities: transfer is required by applicable law (e.g. to fulfil a legal obligation during shipment processing)

Your data is only transferred outside the European Economic Area (EEA) to other Deutsche Post DHL Group companies, third party business partners or public authorities when permitted by applicable data protection law. In such cases, we will make sure that appropriate safeguards are in place to ensure the transfer of your data (e.g. binding corporate rules, standard contractual clauses).

The DPDHL Data Privacy Policy regulates our group-wide standards for the processing of your data.

We respect your rights

Where applicable, data protection law provides multiple rights for you to exercise:

Right to access information

You have the right to be informed on the information we hold on you.

This includes the right to ask us supplementary information about the categories of your data we are handling, for which purpose, the categories of business partners to whom the data may be send to and your other rights regarding our use of your data.

We will provide you this information within one month after your request in so far we are not affecting the rights and freedoms of another person by doing so.

Right of rectification

You have the right to request a correction of any inaccurate data about yourself.

Right to object

You have the right to challenge certain types of processing, such as direct marketing.

Right to withdraw your consent

You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time.

Right of portability

You have the right to port your data to another company. We will give you an export of the data you provided to us.

Right to erasure/be forgotten

You have the right, in certain circumstances, to request a deletion of your data. Where your right to be forgotten is valid, and only if necessary, minimal data about you can be kept to ensure you will not be contacted again (i.e. do-not-contact-me list).

Right to restrict processing

You have the right to request a limitation in the way your data is used.

Right related to automated decision making including profiling

You have the right to request a review of automated processing. At this moment, DHL does not apply any automated decision making with legal consequences for you. In case it will be done in the future, we will do so in accordance with the applicable law.

You can direct your request based on the above rights or any other questions about this Privacy Notice to our Data Protection Official from the country you are residing. DHL cannot handle your request without sufficient proof of your identity. Please note that the applicable data protection law may impose conditions on exercising the above rights.

Requests and complaints

We will handle all your requests with the care it deserves. If we fail to provide you a satisfying answer, please contact us.

If we fail to address your concerns, you may send a complaint to your local Data Protection Authority.
